

Topic of the month:

Research Stays – funding, organisation, personal experiences

28 June 2019

13.00 – 14.30

MARUM I, room 2060

GLOMAR encourages PhD students to conduct a research stay / internship at an institution abroad. Such research stays offer opportunities to

- get international experience,
- get to know a different academic system,
- build or broaden the personal network,
- gain cultural experience and get to know another country, and
- have lots of memorable experiences during work and free time.

Topics of this seminar:

- ❖ Funding for Research Stays (DAAD, University of Bremen, GLOMAR, ...)
- ❖ GLOMAR funding proposals – questions and answers
- ❖ Exchange of experiences with PhD students who have done a research stay in the past

Lina Madaj – University of Montreal, Canada

Leonardo Tamborrino – Rosenstiel School of Marine Sciences, University of Miami, USA

Seth Mensah Abobi – University of Bergen, Norway

Agata Mystkowska – University of Victoria, Canada (to be confirmed)
